

Syllabus

CS 695

Doctoral Seminar

<http://www.cs.iit.edu/~iraicu/teaching/CS695-S12/index.html>

Semester: Spring 2012

Lecture Time: Wednesday, 1:50PM - 3:05PM

Location: Stuart Building 238

Office Hours Time: Email to setup appointment

Office Hours Location: Stuart Building 237D

Professor: Dr. Ioan Raicu (iraicu@cs.iit.edu)

Course Description

This course is required for all PhD students in computer science, and will expose the students to presentations from senior people in computer science from industry, government labs, and academia. The course will involve outside invited speakers, written summaries of presentations, and short oral presentations by the students. For the latest schedule of invited speakers, please see <http://datasys.cs.iit.edu/seminar/index.html>. You are expected to attend all these seminars the entire semester, even if they are not scheduled during the same time this class is scheduled.

Required Texts

None

Prerequisites

PhD student

Mailing lists

There is a course mailing list; you can send mail to the list by sending email to cs695-s12@datasys.cs.iit.edu. If you registered for the class before the January 6th, your email address should already have been added to the mailing list. Please see <http://datasys.cs.iit.edu/mailman/listinfo/cs695-s12> for more information about the course mailing list, including changing your email address and adding new email addresses.

Grades

Grading Policies:

- Attendance: 50%
- Participation: Questions during presentations: 20%
- Participation: Summary write-ups for presentations: 20%
- Presentation: 10%